Classroom & Personal Expectations:

1. RESPECT! You will express empathy towards others. No one says you have to become best friends with anyone in the class, but you will respect them as human beings, just like you.
2. Responsibility: Come to class prepared with all necessary materials for that particular class. Make sure you keep track of assignments I am not a record player I will tell you when assignments are due once and will not repeat myself! If you are unsure of an assignment due date check the calendar in the front of the room!
3. Work Ethic: Work hard and give assignments your best effort. You are all high school students now. Take responsibility for your actions and your work. Hold yourselves accountable and turn in high-quality work.

Consequences: Failure to comply with the classroom and personal expectations will result in the following.

1. Verbal Warning
2. Points removed from employability grade

Grading Scale: Students who fall below 70% in the classroom will meet with the teacher for weekly conferences. GPAs and grades are great, but they don't always truly reflect your strengths or what you know. For this reason, I like to hold conferences with students who fall below a C to ensure that they have the learning resources they need to succeed.
